THE DISTURBANCES IN IRELAND

The European papers which we publish this morning, and which we have been recently publishing, indicate unmistakably the growth of serious troubles in a portion of the United Kingdom. Irish rebellions have been so frequently the synonyms of Irish folly that any fresh attempt at insurrection is liable to provoke our pity than our fears. The disturbances, however, which are at present agitating the public mind in the mother country are not the ordinary ebullitions of Irish discontent. The caldron is not bubbling this time merely from native sedition; another and more powerful ingredient has been thrown from external sources into the pot in the form of American intrigue.

The United States authorities may feel that they have a grudge against France and England for their actions and demeanor during the recent civil war; although for the matter of that things are pretty nearly equal, for American sympathy and to a certain extent support were given to France and England's enemies during the Russian war; but supposing the Americans feel aggrieved, let them not seek to carry the lex talionis during times of profound peace into fomenting sedition in countries with which they are ostensibly in friendly relations. In war many horrible things are justifiable. However much we might be the sufferers by armed revolt in Ireland we could not, if we were in hostility with America, reasonably object to American efforts made in behalf of that revolt; but at present, when not a breath ruffles the surface of national affairs, the Irish intrigue of the United States cannot be too strongly condemned. Assisting, as subjects of European powers did, for the mere love of gain, one belligerent against another—sending arms to the North and ships to the South—is only what we may expect from human avarice in any manufacturing and commercial country; but it is an avarice that takes its risks. Let England get into war with a European power to-morrow—let her even get into an Irish rebellion sufficiently gigantic to call for a recognition of belligerent rights, and the citizens of the United States could scarcely be blamed, according to the recent phase of international law in England, for incurring the risks of "giving aid and comfort to the enemy." It is one thing, however, to take advantage of a neutral position by making money out of belligerents and another to foment discord and create rebellion. Had England or France encouraged disbanded soldiers to rush to America for the purpose of organizing an armed resistance to the authority of the country, no language would have been too strong in condemnation—no retaliation too severe.

We have in all this presumed that the Fenian disturbances in Ireland are of American origin. The thing could not possibly be otherwise. Had the Government of the United States been acting in a really friendly spirit towards Great Britain, it would have taken especial pains to disown the movement. One word from Secretary Seward would let the Fenians know that America was not to be dragged into a war with Great Britain on their account. As it is we have two or three hundred thousand disciplined men, fired by an enthusiasm that can scarcely be understood by more staid and sober races, bent on testing their prowess on the first occasion with the forces of Great Britain, and only too anxious to bring on the conflict. With organizations through the North and South of the Republic, extending the net-work over even the adjoining British American Possessions, and with ramifications through the length and breadth of Ireland, it is a power not to be despised. The English Government are well aware of this. They know it is not a handful of half-starved peasants under inexperienced men like Meagher or O'Brien, but an army the majority of whom have shared the dangers of the most bloody war in the present century. The demonstrations in Ireland may be merely the hasty zeal and indiscretion of men in anticipation of a coming conflict and may, therefore, be quickly put down. But sufficient has been shown by the indiscretion to make the Home authorities more than usually anxious. When we find Fenian organizations in Liverpool sending brass field-pieces to their friends in Ireland, when we see towns and localities that have been always remarkable for loyalty becoming suddenly inspired with military notions and ideas of an Irish Republic, and lastly and more important than all, when we hear of soldiers in the British army sympathizing with the movement, we can have some idea of the anxiety of the Privy Council, and the state of affairs that brought together, under the auspices of the Lord Lieutenant of the County, one hundred and fifty magistrates at Cork.

Of course, no man in his sober senses can expect any Fenian movement in time of profound peace to succeed in Ireland; for, independent of the division of sentiment in the country, the Government of Great Britain was never more powerful than now; but the present disturbances may lead to warlike complications. If Fenianism can embroil Great Britain with America its immediate object will have been gained, and its final hopes strengthened. For while it is morally impossible during peace between these great powers, for any considerable force of men to be transferred from the American continent to the shores of Ireland, there would be by no means an insuperable difficulty in the way of the enterprise in time of war. This, then, must be the grand hope of the Fenian organization, and it is the thing most to be dreaded by Americans as well as English statesmen.

GREAT FREE PORT MEETING.—On Saturday afternoon the supporters of the free port candidate for the representation of Esquimalt and Metchosin Districts, hearing that Mr. Elliott intended to address the electors at Parson's Bridge, at 6 p.m., caused notice to be given that Mr. Elliott's meeting was postponed till Tuesday, and invited the voters to attend a meeting at Peatt's at 5 o'clock, to hear an exposition of the views of Dr. Ash.

At the hour named, a cavalcade of free porters had collected at Colwood, consisting of Messrs. McCrea, Backus, Couch, Stahlsmith, Jones, Wilkie, Longeneur, Marvin, Dr. Helmcken, McKenzie and sons, and five or six district settlers, of whom one was an elector. Mr. McKenzie introduced Dr. Ash, stating that he was himself a farmer, and was well acquainted with the doctor, considering him an excellent man to represent the districts. Dr. Ash then expanded his views, and in a speech of about half an hour he was in full discussion on his views or not at all. To the passing of a homestead law he was opposed. He advocated entrenchment and cheap government, leaving the country to take care of itself. The candidate carefully avoided any allusion to the Crown Lands question, also touched upon the subject of immigration, but upon a question being asked by a settler as to what should be done with the unemployed men at present in the colony, the subject of apprenticeship was introduced, and the doctor, who was satisfied with the present condition of affairs, to which he returned an affirmative answer. His remarks were received with loud applause from two Wharf street gentlemen, and the great political caucuses, who carried everything triumphantly, after liquorizing up took horse and dispersed, having produced an immense effect upon the one elector present.

THE MERCUSIN CONTEST.—On Saturday evening, at six o'clock, Mr. Alfred T. Elliott attended by Captain Brown's hotel, Parson's Bridge, to address the electors of Esquimalt and Metchosin Districts. About thirty of the settlers were present. Mr. C. B. Brown was called upon to preside. Mr. Elliott gave an able outline of his political creed, which met with the cordial approval of the meeting, and was followed by Mr. Brown, who made an excellent speech, expressing himself highly pleased with Mr. Elliott's views, and calling upon the electors to support him on the poll.

A PARAGRAPH FOR THE LADIES.—Messrs. J. H. Turner & Co., of London House, have just received by express from the European manufacturers, large additions to their stock, of the richest and most fashionable Dress Goods, Winter Mantles, Silks (the finest ever imported to this colony), splendid Lace goods, newest and most charming styles of Bonnets—the "Fashion" and "Empire"; irresistible Hats and Trimmings, and a variety of fascinating articles, that must be seen to be appreciated.

ARRIVAL OF BUTTLE AND PARTY.—The schooner Surprise arrived last night from Nootka Sound with Buttle and his exploring party on board. The Surprise left on Tuesday last and experienced rather bad weather. We have not heard of anything new being discovered. Buttle reported for Nootka Lake, intending to cross the island, but the Indians refused to go on account they said of the high stage of water in the rivers.

THE CRICKET MATCH.—The third or conquering match between the U. S. C. Club and the City players came on Saturday on the Beacon Hill ground, and was won easily, as the subjunctive score will show, by the Club. The latter were first sent to the wicket by the bowling of Lieut. Macaulay and Sergt. Levett, and ran up a good score of 98 runs. Mr. Whitaker, whose batting was much admired, carried out his bat for 28 runs, and Meers, Richardson, Neasham and Plummer, who likewise played well, added 16, 15 and 14 respectively. The City team, who showed a determined front to the steady bowling of Messrs. Richardson and Howard, were unfortunate in sending the ball into the hands of their opponents, and were disposed of for 52 runs, six out of the eleven being well caught out. The only score of 22 was made by Mr. Whittaker, who, in his second innings, made 55 runs, increasing the score to 153, and leaving the City players with 102 to win; their chances of success, however, soon appeared hopeless, as one after another left the wicket without adding much to the score, and when the shades of evening began to draw in the stump were pulled with 9 wickets down for only 28 runs. The first innings, therefore, had been won by Corp. Wadsworth, and four out of the five having been carried off by printers.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

Extensive New Diggings Discovered.

[From Saturday's Columbian.]

Capt. Hennessy, who arrived from the interior yesterday, has kindly furnished us with the following information:—Capt. Hennessy is fitted with Dodgeon's gate double screw propeller, which it is thought will give her great speed. She is 1500 tons register, 265 feet long, 31 feet beam, 250 ft. deep, 350 horsepower, brig rigged, and has accommodation for 100 chief cabin, 40 second, and 65 steerage passengers.

PLOTT BOAT STOLEN.—On Saturday night last the whale boat belonging to the Victoria pilots was stolen from her moorings opposite Louven's wharf. The owners offer a reward of twenty dollars for the recovery of the boat.

UNION AND CITY WHARVES.—Mr. R. Brodrick has received large consignments of cedar, timothy hay, best house coal, oak and pine wood, oats and potatoes, for sale at Union and City wharves.

ELECTION CLASS.—A lecture will be delivered this evening by Mr. Rennie—subject: "A description of a journey from Canada to British Columbia, with personal adventures."

ROBBERT.—Yesterday morning, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock, an overcoat and small looking glass were abstracted from a cabin on Cook street.

LATER FROM JAPAN & CHINA.

LOSSES IN THE CHINA SEAS.

The bark Aden, 345 tons, Captain Bart, arrived yesterday morning early from Hakodadi, Japan, having made a splendid run of 34 days. She sailed on the 5th September, and the distance covered was 10,000 miles. The bark which he was satisfied with the present condition of affairs, to which he returned an affirmative answer. His remarks were received with loud applause from two Wharf street gentlemen, and the great political caucuses, who carried everything triumphantly, after liquorizing up took horse and dispersed, having produced an immense effect upon the one elector present.

GOOD NEWS FROM ROCK CREEK.

From Mr. Pooley, who arrived from Osoyoos Lake yesterday, we learn that Japanese were assaying a new process.

From Sato, who was on the eve of adjusting their differences and concluding peace, there was no interruption to commerce at the three principal ports of Yokohama, Nagasaki and Hakodadi, and the other ports would probably soon open to foreign trade.

BUSINESS OF EVERY KIND WAS, HOWEVER, VERY BUSY.

BAND PERFORMANCE.—On Saturday afternoon the citizens of Victoria were enabled, through the kind consideration of Admiral Denman, to enjoy their half holiday in listening to the masterly performances of the well-trained and highly efficient band of H. M. S. Sutlej, in front of the Government buildings, James Bay. We are guilty of no intention to award fulsome adulation when we say that the Sutlej band equals, if it does not exceed in merit, any naval band we have ever had the pleasure of listening to, and we regard not a band in the world, excepting the Indian bands, in listening to good music as was manifest in the large and highly respectable attendance, and we hope the opportunity for similar enjoyment may recur again.
